AMARYLLIS HALLI

THE MAGIC LILY OF THE ORIENT

It is called the Magic Lily of the Orient because the blossom stalk rises almost like magic out of the bare ground and produces a lovely bouquet of large pink blooms. These bulbs produce attractive ribbon-like foliage as well as a profusion of blossoms, however the foliage and blooms appear at different times.

This lovely Oriental import is a good mixer with other flowers. It should be remembered that the Magic Lily blooms on a very tall stem, therefore they should be planted somewhat to the rear of lower growing flowers. The Magic Lily is particularly effective when planted in clumps of about 10 bulbs, with the individual bulbs being planted about 6 inches apart. They also can be grown in our 6 inch planter.

In the South (Zones I, II, III) they may be planted almost anytime except summer and they may be left in the ground since they are quite hardy. They should be dug up and divided about every third year for best results. In Zones IV we would suggest spring planting and if they are left out over winter a heavy mulch would probably be beneficial.

By special purchase in large quantities from Japan we can now offer these at only

10 FOR $1.29

They cost a lot more last fall. Planted in a cluster in your yard they create an interest all out of proportion to their costs, yet the work you do is practically none at all.
